Fund Manager's Report

In the month of March, the Fund fell 2.37%, underperforming the Benchmark by 19bps. The underperformance was due to overweight positions in AI-centric names in the Construction and Technology sectors as risk aversion surrounding impending Trump tariffs continued to prevail.

Malaysia's manufacturing sector moderated in March after a notable improvement in February, with a PMI reading of 48.8pts vs 49.7pts. S&P Global stated that firms remained under pressure at the end of the 1Q, with broad-based weakness seen. New export orders, output, employment and inventory levels eased, with some evidence suggesting that global trade uncertainty had affected international demand. Business confidence, after hitting the highest since October 2024 in February, also waned. That said, the latest PMI data still suggests modest growth in GDP for 1Q25, sustaining the trend seen in 2H24. To recap, Malaysia's GDP grew by 5% in 4Q24 and 5.1% for 2024. BNM maintained its GDP growth forecast of 4.5-5.5% in 2025 during the recent briefing but highlighted potential risk to growth due to the trade restrictions.

BNM maintained OPR at 3.00% during the last MPC meeting and we expect the central bank to hold rates steady given muted inflation and modest economic growth. Inflation rose 1.5% in February, lower than the 1.7% in the previous month. There appears to be sufficient headroom to central bank's latest 2.0-3.5% CPI forecast for 2025 with the impending subsidy rationalization plans.

For fixed income, corporate bond trading volume in March 2025 increased by 6.66% MoM to RM17.57 billion from RM16.46 billion in February 2025. During the month, credit spread movements were mixed. GG spreads widened on the short-end, but tightened in the medium term and remained flat for the longer term. Meanwhile, short-to-medium term AAA tightened by 1 – 4bps, while widening slightly on the longer term. The month of March saw a surge in primary issuances with RM14.60 billion of corporate bond issuances tapping the market, an increase of 116.0% from RM6.76 billion in February 2025. Total corporate bond issuance for the first three months of the year stood at RM24.66 billion which was 22.7% higher than the previous corresponding period of RM20.09 billion. We continue to target switching out of credit with tighter spreads when possible and to replace with new credit issuances which we find attractive in terms of valuation and with strong fundamentals.

^Based on the fund's portfolio returns as at 15 March 2025, the Volatility Factor (VF) for this fund is 8.46 and is classified as "Low" (source: FIMM). The VF means there is a possibility for the fund in generating an upside return or downside return around this VF. The Volatility Class (VC) is assigned by FIMM based on quintile ranks of VF for qualified funds. VF is subject to monthly revision and VC will be revised every six months. The fund's portfolio may have changed since this date and there is no guarantee that the fund will continue to have the same VF or VC in the future. Presently, only funds launched in the market for at least 36 months will display the VF and its VC.
