Fund Manager's Report

For the month, the fund declined 140bps (basis points) in MYR terms, outperforming the benchmark by 121bps. Year to date, the fund is underperforming the index by 301bps.

The KLCI was down 3.9% (-3.3% in USD terms) and underperformed MSCI ASEAN's +1% during the month. Aside from the risk aversion surrounding impending Trump tariff measures and recession fears re-emerging in the US, the index was also weighed down by many heavyweights (mainly Banks and Tenaga) going ex-dividend during the month and ROI harvesting activities by domestic institutions. Almost all sectors were in the red with top laggards being Telcos, Financials and Healthcare.

Other key benchmarks: CPO down 3% to c.RM4,400/t, Brent up 2% -US$75/bbl. Ringgit strengthened 0.5% against the Dollar at RM4.4383, while the 10Y MGS yields fell 14bps to 3.7710.

Malaysia's manufacturing sector moderated in March after a notable improvement in February, with a PMI reading of 48.8pts vs 49.7pts. S&P Global stated that firms remained under pressure at the end of the 1Q, with broad-based weakness seen. New export orders, output, employment and inventory levels eased, with some evidence suggesting that global trade uncertainty had affected international demand. Business confidence, after hitting the highest since October 2024 in February, also waned. That said, the latest PMI data still suggests modest growth in GDP for 1Q25, sustaining the trend seen in 2H24. To recap, Malaysia's GDP grew by 5% in 4Q24 and 5.1% for 2024. BNM maintained its GDP growth forecast of 4.5-5.5% in 2025 during the recent briefing but highlighted potential risk to growth due to the trade restrictions.

BNM maintained OPR at 3.00% during the last MPC meeting and we expect the central bank to hold rates steady given muted inflation and modest economic growth. Inflation rose 1.5% in February, lower than the 1.7% in the previous month. There appears to be sufficient headroom to central bank's latest 2.0-3.5% CPI forecast for 2025 with the impending subsidy rationalization plans.

MSCI AC Asia Pacific ex Japan Index was slightly up in March, ending 1.32% higher. The index was held up by China, which returned 15.25% for the month, fueled by an AI related rally. Apart from the tech sector, the Chinese markets have not seen that strong of a move. Valuations for the Chinese markets as a whole remain relatively cheap. Korea was the next best performer, ending up 4.0% for the month. The worst performing markets were Taiwan and Indonesia. Indonesia has seen strong foreign outflows as investors worry about the new policy changes brought about by the new Prabowo government.

We have a positive view on Asian equities, given the attractive investment themes. We still like the tech sector as we see semiconductor investments continuing to grow into next year while expectations have been lowered. We will continue to diversify and position the portfolio in areas where they are likely to print strong earnings growth such as the semiconductor industry, beneficiaries of AI spend, and Korea value up program, rising consumer discretionary spent or rising capex. We have been taking some profits off from our China names as we see risk of disappointment in relation to stimulus going into 2025.

*Based on the fund's portfolio returns as at 15 March 2025, the Volatility Factor (VF) for this fund is 9.96 and is classified as "Moderate" (source: FIMM). The VF means there is a possibility for the fund in generating an upside return or downside return around this VF.
