MANAGER'S COMMENTS

The KLCI rose 1.8% MoM to 1,540 in Apr 2025, outperforming the MSCI Emerging Market Index. In April 2025, 5 of Bursa Malaysia's 13 sectors posted gains, led by Telecommunication (+4.9%), Consumer (+4.2%), and Healthcare (+3.4%). The worst performers were Energy (-9.2%), Transport (-5.3%), and Technology (-4.7%).

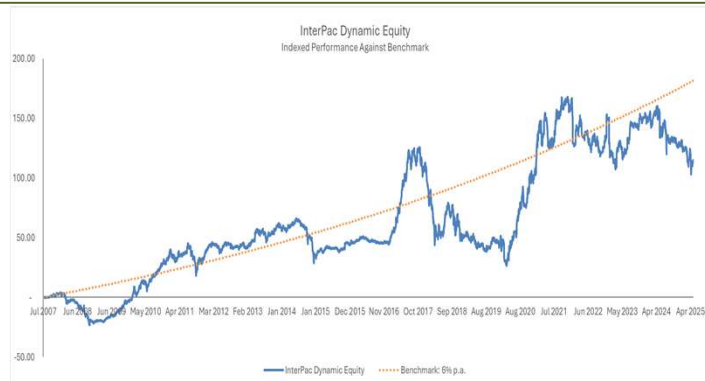

Foreign investors were net sellers of Malaysian equities for the seventh consecutive month in Apr 2025, with net sell flows falling 59.3% mom to RM1.9b. This was the first month since Nov 2024 that foreign investors net sell flows were lower than RM2b, which could be an indication that the foreign sell-down experienced by the Malaysian market could be easing.

The market sell-off has resulted in more attractive valuations, prompting the fund to deploy its existing cash into a mix of value, growth and dividend stocks.
